VOLUME XXXVIII. NUMBER 40.

IRONTON, MISSOURI.

THURSDAY, MARCH 23, 1905.

Announcement.

We are authorized to announce O. J. BUFORD as a candidate for Commissioner of Public Schools of Iron county, subject to the action of the voters at the school election April 4th.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

School election April 4th. No. 2 was six hours late Sunday. The Ironton schools will close in seven week. All kinds of blank deeds for sale at this office. Plenty of green ribbon in evidence last Friday. B. N. Brown has a new advertisement this week. March has certainly furnished ideal weather so far. The lawns and the meadows are beginning to show their color. Remember the REGISTER office when you want printing of any kind. Auction sale at the home of Sam. Middleton in Pilot Knob next Saturday. The new line of ladies' shoes at B. N. Brown's, successor to Mullin & Brown, is very fine. Another summer, it seems, is going to pass without a big summer hotel in the Valley. There will be fifty-three Sundays in this year. It is said that will not occur again in 110 years. The Leader is expecting an up-to-date delivery horse and wagon from St. Louis this week. The Ozark Red Granite Company expect to have their crusher in operation in a few days. Prof. Daugherty expects to commence his summer school about May 8th. Particulars later. When you have an item of news please bear in mind we are always glad to be apprised thereof. Jacob Grandhomme is arranging to put another story on his residence in the south end of town. J. T. Baldwin & Sons last week received a planer which was bought from J. S. Benson at Annapolis. County court meets in adjourned session next Monday to settle with the collector and attend to other business. The dance at the Academy of Music Friday night was well attended and proved a very pleasant affair. Mrs. W. J. Smith yesterday returned from Oregon county and is now ready to take up her class in penmanship. "Rip Van Winkle" at the Academy of Music Saturday night had a crowded house. The show was a very good one. Ironton's bucket shop closed last week rather unexpectedly. It is rumored new parties will start the business in the near future. The screen factory people will probably build a residence for Mr. Cain on the site of the old screen factory some time this spring or summer. Messrs. J. Lopez and Price Ringo are in St. Louis this week buying spring and summer goods for the Lopez Store Company. Particulars next week. Another street lamp was broken on Main street last Thursday night. It is to be regretted that the offender has not yet been apprehended and brought to justice. An oven is being built in the rear of the Roehry property, south of the REGISTER office, and the baker expects to be ready for business in a few days. Mr. S. Marsh, of Elvins, sold Mr. J. Frank Sigman's fine farm of 240 acres, east of Pilot Knob, for $2,500 cash, last week, to a Dr. C. L. Embrique, of St. Louis. Let's see. It is just about three years since the railroad superintendent said we should have a new depot at Ironton. When will that promise end in fruition? WANTED—Car timber: will pay $14.25 per thousand. Also want wagon timber. For further particulars call on or write John T. Baldwin & Sons, Ironton, Mo. There will be four excursions from St. Louis to the Valley the coming summer. The dates for the excursions are May 21st, June 25th, August 13th, October 8th. "Paul as a Missionary" is the subject of the Epworth League meeting next Sunday evening at the brick chapel, 7:15 promptly. Earl Gaines, leader. All invited. BORN—Tuesday, March 21, 1905, at 3 o'clock P. M., at St. Louis, Mo., to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ahrens, a son. All are doing well, and the REGISTER extends congratulations. Next Sunday evening's sermon at the brick chapel in Ironton will be especially to young men and boys. Everybody is invited. So to and duet will be had. Sermon at 8 o'clock. The report that Congressman Robb would locate in St. Louis and practice law seems to have been without foundation. Mr. Robb has returned to his old home at Perryville and will follow his profession there.

Services will be held in St. Paul's Episcopal church Sunday as follows: Holy communion, 8 A. M.; morning prayer, litany and sermon, 8 A. M.; evening prayer and sermon, 7:30 P. M. George Baldwin fell off a "chute the shoots," built from the roof of the planning mill to the ground, Wednesday night of last week, and dislocated his shoulder. His injuries are not serious. Hugh Steel of Arcadia was in Flat River on business the first of the week. Mr. Steel has been in Colorado for some time, and is looking for a business location in his native state again.—Lead Belt News. The large building now being erected for the hub mill at Ellington, will soon be completed. Several dwelling houses to be occupied by the mill employes, are under way of construction.—Reynolds Co. Outlook. As noticed in Tuesday's St. Louis papers, Rev. T. A. Waterman addressed the St. Louis Clericus on the previous day at the "Obligation of the Tithe." His address was considered an able one by clergy present. Miss Maud Ferguson, one of the teachers in the Flat River schools, returned Sunday evening from her home in Graniteville, where she had been for a week at the bedside of her father. Mr. Ferguson was suffering with pneumonia, but is convalescent.—Lead Belt News. A newspaper offered a prize for the best answer to the conundrum, "Why is a newspaper like a woman?" The prize was won by a lady in Oklahoma, who sent in the following answer: "Because every man should have one of his own and not run after his neighbor's."—Quintman Herald. It is understood that ex-Congressman Robb has changed his mind about again being a candidate for congress in this district. The Eagle is informed reliably that his former secretary, Dick Bell of Potosi, said only this week that he was authorized by Mr. Robb to say that he would run again.—St. Francois County Eagle. Mr. and Mrs. Polite Elvins are celebrating the 27th birthday of the head of the family to-day. Mr. J. M. Elvins, father of our distinguished fellow townsman is present to partake of a special dinner prepared by young Mrs. Elvins. Mrs. Elvins received a brace of mallard ducks from the city yesterday.—Elvins Labor Herald. The late legislature made an appropriation of $50,000 for the establishment somewhere in the Ozarks of a sanitarium where all sufferers from pulmonary troubles may be treated. The institution will be located by a commission of five men appointed by the Governor. It occurs to us that the Arcadia Valley is an ideal place for the location of the institution. The following appeared in Tuesday's St. Louis Star, telegraphed from Washington, D. C.: "The President has approved the sentence of dismissal from the army in the case of Albert J. Mohn, Fourth Cavalry, who was convicted by court-martial in Jefferson Barracks, St. Louis, on charge of disrespect to his superior officers in writing personally to the President and accusing them of persecuting him." Rev. I. B. Manly has made a new venture in connection with his charge at Arcadia. Ironton is a twin town adjoining, where most of our members live. For years it has been a problem to get a night congregation on the hill in Arcadia, where the church is located. An old, but neat church building, about a mile from the other church, has been secured in Ironton, and the night services will be held there.—Nashville Christian Advocate. Miss Mary Souldard died at the home of Mrs. Hatten in Arcadia at ten o'clock Saturday night, after being confined to her bed for a few days with pneumonia and grip. Miss Souldard has spent the greater part of her time in the Valley for the past thirty years or more and the announcement of her death was heard with sorrow by many friends. The deceased was sixty-three years of age. The remains were taken to St. Louis Sunday afternoon and the interment occurred there the following day. Girls cannot comprehend that in man's eyes daintiness is a maidenly charm that nothing can take the place of. He does not care—or perhaps know—whether you wear a "Directoire" or a "Pompadour," "1830," or any other periodic costume, unless he happens to have an artistic temperament, but he does know whether you are vulgarly or loudly dressed or you are pinned together. Though he might not be able to describe your dress, but he knows whether he likes it. There are other kinds of daintiness besides that of dress. The daintiness of language and speech that eliminates grammatical errors and slang; the daintiness of voice that modulates the tones and subdues loud or high pitched talk and shrill laughter in public places and the daintiness of manner that shows respect to elders, that allows no undue familiarity and gives proof of inborn—or acquired—refinement. We notice that in a number of good southeast towns where the Bell telephone people operate, notice has been given that rates of residence and business telephones will be increased from 50c to $1.00 per month. Just as sure as the Bell company begins to give practical illustrations of what a telephone monopoly can do, they may expect local capital to organize local telephone companies which will give service for less money. Some good towns in the state have met the Bell people ple this way effectively, and put them out of business in the locality. But to do this, was necessary for local patrons to patronize the home company, even after the Bell people resorted to their old method of reducing rates, temporarily, when they ascertained they were likely to have competition. Another word of warning: Go slow, exceedingly slow, with granting long-time franchises.—Dunklin Democrat. One of the finest tributes to the country editor that has ever been delivered was contained in a recent address by Senator Chauncey M. Depew before the New York Association. Mr. Depew said: "I pay my respects to and express my admiration for the country editor. His lines are not cast in places of the great and profitable organs of the metropolis, whose profits are reckoned often by the hundreds of thousands of dollars every year. But the country editor lives in and is a part of his community. His virtue is not so much in what he prints as what he refuses to print. He could easily destroy the peace of his community by admitting to his paper the scandals and gossip of the neighbors. But he stands as a censor and guardian of public morals, and I know of no condition under which the public is appealed to in a certain measure where the utterance is so free from criticism as the general tone of the country press." The following, relative to the proposed consolidation of the Missouri land offices, appeared in Tuesday's Globe-Democrat, telegraphed from Washington, D. C.: "One matter that has been held up for several months on account of the senatorial contest is the contemplated consolidation of three land offices in Missouri. At the general land office to-day it was stated that the consolidation of the three offices at Ironton, Booneville and Springfield would probably be effected soon. It was intimated some time ago that this might be done, but when the senatorial deadlock occurred the matter was dropped. The move is only one of many in several states, in which the public lands have dwindled to a minimum, that are in contemplation by the general land office. It is said the business of the offices at Ironton and Booneville does not justify maintaining them longer and that the business of both can be easily handled at the Springfield offices." Last Friday evening—that being the close of St. Patrick's Day—the pupils of the Arcadia College gave an entertainment, under the direction of the Sisters. It was my good fortune to be there, along with a few other favored Valleyans. Promptly at 7:30—one thing among the many I like in the doings at the College, is, that there are no waits and delays to weary the anticipation of good to come.—The programme was exclusively Irish—the essays, the poems and the music. I append it here: Thy Young Days are Shaded..... A. Blaine Dear Little Shamrock..... Minims You'll Forget Kathleen..... M. English Tribute to St. Patrick—Essay..... M. Harmony Irish Airs..... M. Schneeweiss, B. Walker Shandon Bells..... 2d Elocution Class Killaloe—Song..... Edna Schult Mocking Bird..... K. Nester, M. Search The Irish Cross..... D. Weiner My Little Colleen..... J. H. Jones King of Tara..... A. Boismont Happy Chappie..... B. Walker Moore's Favorite Melody..... E. Maute, C. Teckemeyer. Tipperary—Song..... G. Dinning Last Rose of Summer..... B. Walker, M. Schneeweiss. Come Back to Erin..... Senior Class The written programmes were in the form of the shamrock, neatly and tastefully executed in color and ornamentation. As to the numbers therein, they were all good, and takingly presented. I cannot speak of them individually, as it were, because that would exhaust my stock of complimentary phrases and fill half of this local page. One exception I will make in favor of the two dainty, wee misses who delighted the audience by dancing an old-fashioned Irish jig. It was the "rattle thing" and elicited enthusiastic applause. May the little dancers live in health and happiness all their years and may those years extend beyond the time when oppression everywhere shall have ceased and peace universal bless the earth! At 9 o'clock the last selection, "Come Back to Erin" was rendered and a few moments later we bade each other "Good night!" and soon the Stout's Creek bridge stretched its length between the Ironton contingent and the college domain. Last Sunday afternoon death entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Campbell and claimed as its victim the life of their bright little daughter, Birdie May. She was the only daughter of the family, the only sister of five many brothers, and the scenes witnessed at her funeral were heart rending. Possessing, as she did, such a loving disposition, it was always a delight to be in her presence and the power of her little life will long live in the memory of the people of Lufkin. The funeral services were conducted at the Baptist church by Revs. J. M. Wright and J. B. Cochran and interment was at the Old Fellows cemetery. The public school was dismissed for the funeral as an evidence of her popularity and the universal sorrow at her death. The church was filled to overflowing. She was a member of the children's auxiliary of the U. D. C., and the pall bearers and flower girls were members of this organization, dressed in white and wearing the colors. The procession to the cemetery was a long one and when the casket had been lowered and her precious remains returned to the dust, the sacred mound above was a mass of flowers, the gifts of loving hands and broken hearts.

The Tribune joins the entire community in sympathy for the bereaved family.—Lufkin (Tex.) Tribune. A case in which the pinchers were pinched was brought out in the police court this morning when Pete Martin, our old friend Pete, was lined up on a charge of being drunk yesterday. Some time ago a friend of Dad Whitworth presented that officer with a quart of Old Lynch Rye whiskey. Dad, having an over-abundance on hand at the time, placed the coveted bottle in a locker in the police court, intending to use it at some future date. Pete Martin has been a trusty prisoner about the four courts for some time, where he was laying out a fine for having cleaned out a negro dance sometime ago. Yesterday he became dry, and having an idea that he might be able to quench his undying thirst some where around the place started out with a prior bar to locate some of the fire water, he soon located the right place and proceeded to get on the outside of Dad's Old Lynch in short order. Pete went from bad to worse and soon became so obstreperous as to have to be locked up. When questioned this morning as to where he got his jag he opened up and told where he got it. He was fined this morning and sent back to jail, where he will be kept and not given an opportunity to again invade the sacred lockers of the police force and thereby deprive them of their "mawwin's mawwin."—Popular Bluff Citizen. The following is reproduced from Monday's Post-Dispatch: "Miss Mary Souldard, whose funeral will take place this afternoon from the residence of Volentine C. Turner, 5679 Cabanne avenue, to St. Rose's Catholic church, was a granddaughter of Antoine Souldard, one of the witnesses to the transfer of the territory of Louisiana to the United States, and was also the last of the descendants bearing the name of Souldard. Miss Souldard died Saturday at her home in Arcadia, Mo. She is survived by her sister, Mrs. John W. Turner, widow of Gen. Turner, and a large number of relatives. The history of the Souldard family has been closely entwined with the history of St. Louis. Antoine Souldard came to America from France about the time of the war of the revolution or soon thereafter. Learning of the French settlement in this section of the country, he came to St. Louis and was made surveyor-general of Upper Louisiana in 1765 by the Spanish officials, who then controlled the country. In 1794 he was married to Miss Marie Julie Cerre, daughter of Gabriel Cerre, a pioneer fur trader, who came from Canada and settled in Kaskaskia, Illinois. The Cerre family had a "town" residence at Main and Vine streets and a farm outside the then city limits. This farm occupied the entire space between Broadway and the river, Park avenue and Lesperance street. At the death of Gabriel Cerre and his wife this property descended to Antoine Souldard and wife. Three children were born to them there—James Gaston, Benjamin Antoine and Henry Gustave Souldard. Among the descendants of the first named are members of the Harney, Boggy and Kimball families of St. Louis, and the Corwith family of Chicago. Henry Gustave Souldard had no children. He lived in a mansion about a block east of the present city hospital, which, with its surrounding grounds occupied a square block. Benjamin A. Souldard was married to Miss Rose Closely of Pittsburgh. He made his home when in St. Louis at 2940 Locust street, where he died. He spent much of his time traveling, visited France and looked up the French relatives of the family. He had three children—a son who died while a young man—and two daughters, Blanche and Rose Marie. The former married Gen. Turner. The latter, who died Saturday, and was known as Miss Mary Souldard, was born in Tours, France, on a visit of her parents there. All the men bearing the name Souldard, descendants of Antoine Souldard, preceded Miss Mary Souldard to the grave. Dr. James Gaston Souldard, who died in 1894, was the last survivor among them. Antoine Souldard died in 1825 and his widow disposed of much of her vast quantity of real estate. She gave the Souldard market site to the city and as the city limits were extended on the south laid out Souldard additions, several of them. Souldard street was named in honor of the family, as was the Souldard market, and a small street named Julia was christened in her honor. Miss Souldard for many years has lived at Arcadia, Mo., a greater part of the time. The Turner family has a fine country home there. Miss Souldard was nearly 63 years old, having been born May 10, 1842. Her funeral will take place from the home of her nephew, Volentine C. Turner. He is one of four sons of her sister, Mrs. Turner, the others being Capt. G. Souldard Turner, U. S. A., George and Robert Turner. She is also survived by a niece, Mrs. W. Palmer Clarkson, who was Miss Marie Turner. The interment will be in Calvary cemetery, where all the Souldards are buried and where a monument marks the grave of Antoine Souldard. The pall-bearers will be Alonzo C. Church, William G. Clark, W. Palmer Clarkson, James Van S. Barret, James H. Grover and Mr. Kirschner." Boys' part word short pants, 20c at B. N. Brown's, successor to Mullin & Brown. Election Notice. Peterson and family of the First M. E. Church, Ironton, left Tuesday morning to attend the annual conference which meets in Farmington. Rev. Peterson takes the best report in the history of this church. When he took charge of this church there were forty members, now there are sixty-nine; his salary, and also that of the presiding elder, has been over paid, and the benevolence is double what it has been for fifteen years. The church is completely out of debt and in a splendid condition. Who says the churches of Ironton are losing ground? This certainly does not show it. The unanimous request of the last quarterly conference was for brother Peterson's return to this place. We wish to thank our many friends and invite you to our services when there are none in your own church. J. W. ALLEN. Ladies' and Misses' shoes, 60c, and 80c at B. N. Brown's, successor to Mullin & Brown. To Cure Constipation. Take just a little of Liver Food before retiring each night.
